ANNOUNCING

2012 LUHS Quality & Safety Fair

Call for Storyboards

Loyola's annual Quality & Safety Improvement Fair will be held on Wednesday, September 5, 2012 from 11:00 am to 5:00 pm in the Stritch School of Medicine, Room 150 and Atrium area and YOU are invited to participate. If you have completed or made significant progress on a quality improvement project or event, which includes outcome data, we encourage you to apply to participate and share your experience and outcomes with your colleagues.

What's NEW for 2012?

- A new application process, which will require submission of a completed power point presentation.
- The applications will be evaluated by a Program Committee for inclusion in the fair
- The award category process has been eliminated. A small number of exemplary projects will be selected for brief 5-10 minute podium presentations
- The fair will be held one day rather than two

Application process

Visit the Center for Clinical Effectiveness department website to visit storyboards from previous fairs, and download your application template and instructions at (<http://www.luhs.org/depts/cce/>).

The application deadline is Friday, June 1, 2012.
