

“The experience I’ve gained working with the Surgical Trauma ICU team has been incredible. Dealing with the ever-changing needs of the critically ill patient on a daily basis has strengthened my abilities. This was the perfect job for me as a new graduate.”

—Loyola critical care nurse

Looking for a Fast-Paced, High-Tech and Educationally Rich Environment?

Find it in Loyola’s Surgical Trauma ICU

As a Level One Trauma Center with state-of-the-art facilities and highly trained, experienced surgeons, Loyola represents the best in surgical care. Our high level of patient acuity combined with interesting and unusual trauma cases will offer nurses the opportunity to work alongside many of the country’s finest health-care professionals. Surgical Trauma ICU provides care for trauma, general surgery, vascular, orthopaedic, and renal, liver and pancreatic transplant patients in a 16-bed ICU and an eight-bed intermediate care area.

Facing the challenges of the complex patient, nurses will work collaboratively with a multidisciplinary team including: physicians, nurse managers, acute care nurse practitioners, respiratory therapists, clinical pharmacists, social workers, dietitians, patient-care technicians, chaplains, service coordinators and service associates. If you thrive in an environment where situations can change at any given moment, Loyola’s Surgical Trauma ICU can offer you a rewarding nursing experience.

Enjoy flexible schedules that accommodate your busy lifestyle.

Select a full-time or part-time schedule that is right for you. Choose from: eight-hour shifts, combined eight- and 12-hour shifts, or three 12-hour shifts.

You will receive an individualized competency-based orientation that includes classroom and online instruction along with clinical mentoring to help you acclimate to your new practice setting. On the unit, you will be paired with a preceptor who will guide you through a comprehensive orientation checklist. Orientation is geared toward individual needs rather than a set number of days or weeks. RNs participate in EKG, critical care, trauma and transplant courses.

There’s nursing. And then there’s nursing at Loyola.
